ABSTRACT

A method of making a segmented mold utilizing a first number of matrix sections employed with a second number of inserts which cannot be equally divided by the number of matrix segments.

47973